Impact of COVID-19

On Communities

After two years, it is abundantly clear that COVID-19 has presented the most significant challenge in healthcare in over a century, affecting communities throughout Illinois. The pandemic exposed health disparities and strained hospitals and the healthcare heroes who work tirelessly to care for their communities.

On Healthcare

Strengthening the healthcare workforce is a key focus for hospitals and health systems, which provide essential, good-paying jobs and are committed to providing staff with the support and resources they need. Hospitals have also embraced the important role of community health workers to expand access to care and advance health equity within and beyond the four walls of the hospital.
